General Information

Continuing Education

Saul Ewing Arnstein & Lehr LLP will present a two hour continuing education course for two CE credits on the following topics:

- InsurTech Part 1 – Built for Compliance – How technology and big data is changing the distribution, marketing, sales and underwriting of insurance products, focusing on compliance issues involved.
- InsurTech Part 2 – Built for Compliance – How technology such as artificial intelligence, chat bots, smart contracts, and blockchain is changing (or will change) claims handling. While this new technology has a lot of potential, can it fit into existing insurance laws and regulations? Can the human touch ever really be removed from the claims process?
- Medical Marijuana Update – Earlier this year, Attorney General Sessions withdraw Obama era memorandums that were favorable to the medical marijuana industry. Where does this leave medical marijuana producers, and the insurers who are considering insuring these risks?
